Special Exhibit

Frederic Remington and Charles Russell: Masterworks from the Buffalo Bill Center of the West

November 22, 2014, through April 19, 2015

The Longmont Museum is proud to present masterpieces by two of the West's best known artists. Frederic Remington was the most popular illustrator of subjects of the American West in the late 19th century. His works centered on the cowboy, the military, and the American Indian, defining the basic conflicts and aesthetic interpretations of the West. Charles M. Russell moved to Montana at age 16. He worked on cattle ranches for more than a decade before turning full-time to art, lending his work a distinctive realism based on his life experience.

Admission: $5 seniors (62+) and students, $8 adults, free for members

Free admission on the second Saturday of every month
